280 Miners Entombed In Explosion In Coal Mine In New Mexico

VOLUME X, NUMBER 137. LA CROSSE, WISCONSIN, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1913. PRICE TWO CENTS

280 MINERS ENTOMBED BY MINE EXPLOSION IN NEW MEXICO COLLIERY

HAVE LITTLE HOPE OF RESCUING THE MEN STILL BURIED

After-damp Following the Blast Dangerous to Rescuers Who Work Desperately

THOUGHT ONE OF SAFEST IN WEST

Accident Believed to Have Been Caused by Accumulation of Dust

TAPPED MILE FROM MAIN SHAFT

Those Still in Mine Are Thought to Be Far Away from Where Rescuers Work

DAWSON, N. M., Oct. 23.—That fire has broken out in Stag Canon coal mine No. 2, in which more than 280 miners were entombed by an explosion late yesterday, was the report circulated here early today. There was no confirmation, as the mine officials declined to discuss the explosion.

So far twenty-six miners have been found alive. Of these, twenty-three have been brought up and there are still three below the surface. The fact that the six corpses so far found were burned beyond recognition has left credence to the report that the flames are raging in the mine.

Up to 9:30 a. m., twenty-three miners had been rescued alive and six corpses had been recovered. Earlier reports that fourteen bodies had been taken out were caused by the fact that most of the living miners were unconscious when rescued. How many men were working in the mine at the time of the explosion is not known, but it is estimated about 280 men are still entombed. There is little hope of rescuing them.

Dangerous for Rescuers

Manager O'Brien, in charge of the mine, is personally heading scores of rescuers who are attacking the debris choking the mine passage. After-damp following the explosion which wrecked the interior explosions is very heavy and it is sure death for rescuers to attempt to enter the shaft unless equipped with oxygen helmets. Only ten rescuers can work at a time and these only for brief periods. Each crew is working feverishly removing the debris from the tunnel but the task

7 PER CENT MORE CORPORATION TAX

Returns for Eleven Counties Show Increase of $200,000 for 1912

LA CROSSE RAISE IS $2,301.81

Figures for 1912 Are $55,199.80 Against $52,897.99 in 1911

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Increased returns from corporations under the income tax law may reach 7 per cent more than last year. The tax is computed at the office of the state tax commission, and the rolls are then certified to the county clerks. The tax rolls were certified today.

No attempt was made by the commission to compute the detailed returns of corporations before the rolls were certified to the counties. Eleven counties selected at random show an increase of 18 per cent as compared with last year. Ten counties outside of Milwaukee show an increase of 7 per cent. In Milwaukee county the returns from corporations have gone up 26 9-10 per cent.

Changes in Law.

Under the income tax law, individuals and corporations are assessed separately. The corporation tax is computed at the tax commission's office, and the individual tax is ascertained by the district income tax assessor. The last legislature changed the rate of taxation as applied to corporations, decreasing it for the smaller concerns. This year banks are not taxed, but the stock can no longer be used by individuals as an offset. Interest on bonds is now charged to the holdre and not to the corporations. In spite of these reductions the returns thus far examined by the commission show on the whole a general increase.

Returns in 11 Counties.

Following are the corporation tax returns for eleven counties:

County.	1911.	1912.
Dane	$ 66,569.90	$ 53,103.36
Douglas	159,902.80	151,535.87
F. du Lac	19,526.36	22,912.45
Kenosha	78,957.75	96,500.58
LaCrosse	52,897.99	55,199.80
Manito'c	39,985.36	40,370.39
Milw'kee	947,103.01	1,202,025.63
Racine	107,912.99	162,576.19
Rock	70,046.78	54,585.48
Sheb'gan	56,811.84	85,811.10
Winneb'go	77,746.29	89,067.01

Increase $200,000.

These eleven counties in 1911 collected a corporation tax of $1,677,461. This year the same counties will collect $1,983,788.86, an increase of over $200,000. The largest part of this increase is in Milwaukee county, where over $255,000 additional will be paid. Of the amount collected in Milwaukee county, $1,057,106.03 will be paid by domestic corporations, and $144,920.60 by foreign corporations operating in Milwaukee county. Of a total of $53,103.36 to be collected in Dane county, $42,231.48 will be paid by domestic corporations, and $10,871.88 by foreign corporations. In Douglas county, $21,698.52 will be paid by foreign, and $129,837.35 by domestic concerns. Only $1,843.11 will be collected from foreign corporations by Fond du Lac county, and $21,069.24 from domestic corporations.

Chairman N. P. Haugen said today that in several of the counties there will be a supplemental list which will be certified later. In Milwaukee county this list promises to be large.

MEN AND WOMEN BATTLE GUNMEN

Calumet Strikers Set Upon in Parade Engage in Fierce Fighting

ARE DISPERSED BY THE MILITIA

Half a Score of Persons Are Wounded Before the End of the Melee

CALUMET, Mich., Oct. 23.—Serious rioting broke out afresh in the Red Jacket district of the copper strike zone today. A t housand men and women engaged in a fierce battle in the streets, following an attack upon a strikers' parade by mine guards and imported gunmen. Women as well as men were beaten and bruised. Revolvers and knives flashed in the battle and before state militiamen could restore order, half a score of persons were wounded and bleeding.

Women Join Fight

Women strike sympathizers and wives of miners are said by the operators to have used the staffs of the flags which they were carrying in the parade to beat off the mine guards. Three guards were beaten over the head and badly hurt; one was stabbed in the head and another in the back.

After a hard struggle, the militia finally dispersed the mob. Fourteen arrests were made, mostly strikers, including two women.

Rioting and disorders were also reported at Allouez and Rumbletown town and six arrests were made at those points.

General Abbey, in command of the state troops, went personally to the trouble center in Keeweenow county and ordered the arrests of the strikers.

Today's outbreak was the first of serious nature since the state supreme court at Lansing ordered into effect an injunction against picketing by union miners.

Attack Strike Colony

TRINIDAD, Col., Oct. 23.—The tent colony of striking united mine workers at Forbes was attacked, twelve guns confiscated and many miners arrested by fifty deputies and mine guards under command of Undersheriff Zeke Martin.

Two gatling guns, taken from Trinidad, covered the camp while the guards rifled the contents of the tent homese, looking for other weapons.

The miners arrested were charged with havinf assaulted Deputy Kennedy, who started the machine gun slaughter at Forbes last Friday.

ARRAIGN FRENCH AT CASSVILLE TODAY

Conductor Given Hearing on Charge of Kicking Man to Death from Moving Car

Harry French, 1525 Kane street, a Burlington railroad freight conductor was arraigned in Cassville today, charged with having caused the death of Tom Murphy, a tramp, on October 15. French is alleged to have kicked Murphy from the ladder of a moving box car Wednesday, October 15, near Cassville. Upon being interviewed by a reporter before the hearing, French declared that he would plead not guilty to the charge.

French is one of the best known conductors on the La Crosse division of the road. About a year ago he was implicated in the death of a negro, who was killed much in the same manner as Murphy met his death.

According to a bridge gang, that was working at the place where Murphy was picked up unconscious, they saw French kick at a man who was standing on a side ladder of a box car. They further state that French climbed down the side of the car after the clinging man and stepped on his fingers. Their testimony is being used in the hearing.

Conductor French states that he and half of his crew were in the caboose of the moving freight train, while passing the place where Murphy was found. When found Murphy was not dead but was unconscious. He died a short time afterwards.

HUERTA ORDERS DIAZ TO LEAVE

As Commander He Requires General to Proceed to Havana

CANDIDATE NOW IN DILEMMA

If He Leaves He Loses the Presidency and if He Stays Faces Court Martial

VERA CRUZ, Oct. 23.—General Felix Diaz today faced a difficult situation. A general of the Mexican army, in active service, he was under orders of his commander, General Huerta, to proceed to Havana aboard the Mexican gunboat Zaragoza. He is a candidate for president and to go to Havana before the elections, set for Sunday, would eliminate him. The Mexican constitution provides that a president must be on Mexican soil when elected.

May Mean Court Martial

To refuse to obey an ostensibly harmless military order that looked regular on its face would make Diaz liable to arrest and court martial for insubordination. To go to Havana would cost him his chance for president. Early today Diaz will still at the home of his brother-in-law, Attorney Alco Lee, where he went immediately on landing from the Corovado yesterday. He had refused, up to then to obey Huerta's order to quit Mexico, and talked of a plan to go to Mexico City by special train.

Every member of Diaz's party today was a prisoner in barracks, awaiting court martial for alleged insubordination. They were ordered to Havana and accompany Francisco Leon De La Barra to France. As their reason for staying with Diaz and landing in Mexico they said they were without sufficient funds for further traveling. Diaz's friends were fearful that Huerta might order his arrest during the day.

The situation was a delicate one. Some of Diaz's most powerful friends urged him to obey Huerta's order. Knowing the temper of the dictator, they feared that in his rage over his thwarted plans, he might order the arrest and court martial of Diaz. This This undoubtedly would plunge the country into another revolution. The followers of Diaz, who might remain passive if he is euchred out of the presidency by Huerta's strategy, would surely rise up and fight, were Diaz eliminated by violence.

Suspect Anarchist Trio

Officials today were urged to deport three Italians, Giuseppe Costanzo, Giuseppe Guichete and Franchesho Constanzo, who were arrested on suspicion when they landed from the Corcovado. They had bank drafts for $45,000 and much gold. It was suspected that they were anarchists, possibly hired to assassinate Huerta.

Local representatives of the central government today expressed indignation at the action of the German naval officers from the warship Hertha who went aboard the Corcovado yesterday before Diaz landed. They declared that the German "meddling" was unwarranted. The commander of the Hertha is said to have explained that, as the Corcovado is a German steamer, it was no more than courtesy for the German navy to keep an eye on her passengers at a time when there was so much talk of violence.

Four Warships to Mexico

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Navy officials today denied that orders sending four battleships of the Atlantic fleet to the Mediterranean had been countermanded and the ships diverted to Mexico. That the four vessels, the Virginia, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Nebraska had been assigned for Mexican service, weeks ago, was stated at the department. They are coaling today in Hampton Roads and will sail October 29 for Vera Cruz. They will merely relieve the squadron now in Mexican waters, it was stated, to comply with the Mexican law limiting stationing of ships in Mexican ports.

Cipher advices which it was reported indicated more than anything yet received the seriousness of the Mexican situation were received at the state department today. They formed the basis of a conference between Secretary Bryan and President Wilson this afternoon. It was stated, however, that no change in the administration attitude would result from them.

INDICT THAW FOR ALLEGED PLOTTING

Blanket Charge Covering Five Persons Returned by the Grand Jury

GROWS OUT OF ASYLUM ESCAPE

State Contended Plans for Flight Were Laid in New York City

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The grand jury here today returned an indictment charging Harry K. Thaw with conspiracy.

Thaw is subject to extradition under the offense charged. The indictment returned is a blanket one covering five persons. Besides Thaw, those charged with conspiracy are Richard Butler, Michael O'Keefe, Roger Thompson, and Eugene Duffy. Bench warrants for the arrest of the accused men were immediately issued by Justice Gavegan.

The examination of witnesses before the grand jury was conducted by William Travers Jerome. But eighteen witnesses were called and the grand jury returned the indictment within two hours and a quarter after the examination of witnesses began.

The indictment against Thaw was returned as a result of the contention of the state that the plans for his escape from Matteawan were laid in New York, with those named in the indictment involved in the conspiracy. Roger Thompson drove the automobile in which Thaw fled and Butler was the chauffeur of the second machine.

Moe Grossman, one of Thaw's attorneys, when informed of the indictment, said: "A man who has been committed to an asylum as an insane person, cannot be adjudged guilty of the crime of conspiracy. I do not believe the indictment will stand and I do not believe it will have any effect on the proceedings in New Hampshire. I have contended all along that it is not the intention to try Thaw on any indictment for the obvious reason that no conviction could be had."

VOTES FOR WOMEN PROBLEM TAKEN UP

Despite Efforts of "Antis" New York Woman Urges Suffrage in Address to Clubwomen

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Oct. 23.—Despite the efforts of the "antis" to keep discussion of the subject out of the convention, the "Votes for Women" movement had its innings before the annual convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs today. In the course of her address, Mrs. Emily Montague Bishop, prominent New York club woman, declared that the suffrage question is merely a question of educating women to want to vote, and to want it as a means to a certain definite end.

"Only by using the ballot as a lever," said Mrs. Bishop, "can the women of this country hope to rectify conditions which now threaten the home. Had we the ballot we could gain enforcement of the pure food laws, of child labor laws, and other statutes that now go unenforced. Until we get the ballot, these conditions will remain uncorrected."

Four hundred thirty-one delegates were registered today, the largest number of delegates that ever attended a convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 23.—Woman suffrage was approved in resolutions adopted at the closing session today of the Indiana Federation of Women's clubs. The "segregation or legalizing" of the social evil was heartily condemned in a resolution adopted by the women.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Three men and a woman are under arrest at the Desplaines street police station today as suspects in the killing of three men and the robbery of the jewelry store of J. J. Thompson, at Grand Rapids, Mich., on September 18.

Roy Blackburn, according to Captain Thomas Meagher, has been partially identified by a Grand Rapids man. His wife, Kittie, and the two other men, James Mills and George, alias "Skidoo" Franklin, will be held pending the arrival of Grand Rapids detectives late today.

CURRENCY BILL TO SUIT COUNTRY BANKS PROMISED SAYS WING

FINDS BIG FLAW IN MONEY BILL

Tells Senate Banking Committee Currency Measure Would Put Money Control with Banks

FEDERAL BOARD LACKING POWER

Would Be Helpless to Act He Declares Against Desire of Regional Resere Boards

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Attacking the administration currency measure as "granting just what Wall street and the big banks have wanted for twenty-five years—private control of the currency—Alfred O. Crozier, currency expert of Cincinnati, before the senate banking committee today urged that currency issuance be placed directly under government supervision.

"The administration measure, like the Aldrich measure, robs the people and the government of all effective control over the public money supply and vests in the banks exclusively the dangerous power to make money scarce or plentiful," said Crozier. "The administration bill scatters it in twelve regional reserve banks, while the Aldrich bill confined it to one central bank."

Regional Board Has Power

Crozier urged that under the provisions of the present act, the regional reserve board, composed of private interests—the directors of the member banks—is given full power to decide what quantity of currency shall be issued to the people, through controlling the amount of commercial paper which it will permit to be discounted.

"In other words," he said, "the imperial power of elasticity of the public currency and the ten fold volume of bank credit or loans built upon such currency is wielded exclusively by these central corporations owned by the banks. This is life and death power over all local banks and business. By making money artificially scarce, it can raise interest rates throughout the country and increase the bank tax and the cost of living."

Federal Board Powerless

The federal reserve board, the witness declared, would be "utterly powerless" under the provisions of the measure as it stands now. It can print currency and pledge the credit of the government to a billion dollars, he pointed out, but after having printed the currency, the power of its dissemination was vested in the regional reserve banks. These banks, he said, could withhold every dollar from circulation, or could dump all the money on the market.

As remedies, Crozier suggested that the regional bank feature of the bill be eliminated and the buard's powers be enlarged so as to give them absolute control of currency issuance. The capital stock feature also, he said, should be eliminated.

Crozier Known Here

Alfred O. Crozier, who today told the currency committee at Washington that the country would be ruined by the passage of the bill, is known in La Crosse, having been here recently trying to interest local brick men in a brick machine of his patent.

Crozier, is a lawyer and author, besides being something of an expert on currency and has written several books dealing with money questions. Among these was the "Magnate."

While here he visited E. M. Wing, vice president of the Batavian National bank and spent an entire day with John L. Utermoehl, secretary of the Board of Trade, in an effort to interest local capital in his brick machine project.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Daniel H. Tolman, "king of the Loan Sharks," who had offices in sixty-three cities of the United States, must serve six months in jail. Justice Pendleton in the supreme court today denied Tolman's appeal. He was convicted on October 9 on a charge of usury, and sentenced to prison.

M'ADOO CERTAIN PRESENT BILL IS TO BE AMENDED

Measure Will Be Changed to Meet Demands of the Banks Outside of Reserve Cities

OPPOSITION CALLED "HYSTERIA"

Local Man Says Boston Convention with Its Resolutions Aided Instead of Hindered Passage

ESCH IS OF THE SAME OPINION

Congressman Says Opposition to Governmental Control Will Have Little Effect in Capital

The Owen-Glass currency bill will be amended to satisfy the country bankers—who represent ninety-five per cent of the nation's bankers—is the assertion of William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, according to E. M. Wing, vice president of the Batavian National bank, who returned yesterday from the bankers' convention at Boston, Mass.

Mr. Wing was in Washington at the request of Senator R. P. Owen, one of the framers of the bill, and during his stay there had personal interviews, both with Senator Owen and Secretary McAdoo.

Mr. Wing, in an interview with The Tribune today, took occasion to condemn the hysterical attacks of the Boston bankers' convention on the bill and commended the measure as one "over which the country bankers and the public at large should not worry."

"In my opinion," said Mr. Wing today, "there is no reason why any banker should not go into the new system if the changes are made as indicated by Senator Owen and Secretary McAdoo. There is no reason why the country banker should lose deposits or decrease his profits to any extent.

"The city banks will, of course, lose some deposits because the money that will go to the twelve regional banks must partly come from them but the large decrease in the reserve they will be required to carry should more than equalize the loss caused by the decreased deposits.

Favors Government Control

"The city bankers, of course, cannot believe that any bank they do not control and manage can be successful. And, any proposition that takes control out of their hands appears revolutionary to them. Personally, I think the question of governmental control, as against control by big city bankers, is one that should not much concern the country banker or the public at large.

"I'm satisfied that the administration will do its best to frame a bill to meet the defects in the present system as pointed out by the bankers now opposing efforts to correct evils which they say exist.

"Regardless of the attacks made on the bill by some bankers it may be said that there is going to be a currency bill passed, perhaps not at this special session, however. The ill-advised opposition on the part of some bankers, instead of hindering, is helping the passage at Washington."

City Banks Chief Opposers

Congressman John J. Esch today called attention to the fact that the chief opposition of the city bankers to the bill is that it takes the control of the country banks from their hands and places it in the hands of the government.

"The bankers," said Mr. Esch, "make the argument that the government has no right to meddle in their affairs, that the bankers own the banks and should run them.

"The framers of the proposed currency law claim banks should be under governmental control inasmuch as the stockholders in the banks should actually own but, approximately, ten per cent of the assets, while the remaining ninety per cent belongs to the depositors."

Bankers Go Too Far

Mr. Esch is of the opinion that the bankers at the Boston convention, in their frantic efforts to discredit the bill, have carried things too far.

"The bankers at Boston took too extreme a stand on the matter and their actions at the convention may have circumvented the very things they wanted to accomplish.

"The extreme views expressed and the hostility manifested towards SPARTA, Wis., Oct. 23.—Carl Brown, who has been for some years a resident of this city, was killed in a railroad accident at Henry, Ill., according to word received by his uncle, C. Wakeman, residing on Montgomery street. Brown left here about a week ago for a visit with some of his relatives at Tolura, Ill., and all was thought well until his relatives in this city received the telegram to the contrary. Brown was well known among the young people of this city and was held in highest esteem by all who knew him. He was about 17 years of age and while he was in the city he stayed with his grandmother, Mrs. Gulde. Just before he went away he was employed as a clerk in the Warner house.

Burglars at Work

Burglars have been at work in the surrounding country. Walter Swartzlow, who resides in Farmers Valley, came to town Wednesday, his wife staying at home. She went out to the orchard near the house, locking the house. Soon she saw a man knock at the door, and when no one came he tried it but it did not open, so he waved his comrades who were on the railroad track near the house. They immediately began to make preparations to get in but by this time Mrs. Swartzlow had got to where she could call to them. She called just as one was about to disappear but when they heard her call they made a hurried retreat with no booty. There has been a bunch of hoboes in the city and the country around about in the last few days.

Not having a quorum there was nothing done at the council meeting last night. Neither the president nor the mayor was there and so no business could be transacted, because, owing to a new law, a president protem could not be elected. The council meeting was an adjourned meeting from the first of the month and it was expected that the council would sanction the mayor's appointment for a city treasurer, but nothing can be done until the regular meeting the first Tuesday of November.

TOLD IN LA CROSSE

A Resident Known to all Our Readers Relates an Experience

Readers of The Tribune have been told again and again of the merits of that reliable, time-proved kidney remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills. The experiences told are not those of unknown persons, living far away. The cases are La Crosse cases, told by La Crosse people.

E. E. Burrows, 421 Vine St., La Crosse, Wis., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for backache and kidney complaint for several years and have always had fine relief. I am pleased to recommend this remedy."

"When Your Back is Lame—Remember the Name." Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Burrows had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

Cupid and the Captain

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"And not a romance among them?" queried Mrs. Dane, casting laughing eyes at the rough hewn head of the captain. "Not even a tiny wee one."

They had been listening to thrilling narratives of the sea—Mrs. Dane, her husband and one other.

Capt. Bangor smiled at the little bird-like woman who had put the last question; the whimsical light far back in his eyes did not escape her interested glance.

"Oh—I have loved and sailed away—once or twice," he told her, "but always upon returning to port she whom I had loved in a light way had turned to another for consolation." He laughed and the two women at the table fell to wondering how any girl could forget a man so ruggedly handsome as their captain. He was attractive to the point of making even little Mrs. Dane's heart miss a beat when he turned his deep set eyes fully upon her.

"I simply couldn't live without romance!" she ejaculated.

"No doubt I have missed a great deal," sighed the captai n with a twinkle in his eyes as they rested on Mr. Dane, "or, better still—escaped much."

"You will certainly pay the penalty for that last remark," hinted Mrs. Dane darkly, and nodded her head until the curls danced. "Your ship will sail the sea of matrimony yet! Mark my words."

The captain's eyes grew suddenly thoughtful. It was just such a head as Mrs. Dane's that he had often pictured resting against his shoulder in the firelight of his own home.

"You've worried him already," put in Dane. "Capt. Bangor is content to pilot his ship shafely through a sea of fogs and icebergs. Matrimonial seas are a different proposition—eh, captain?"

"My barque is certainly a faithful spouse," laughed the captain. "She obeys my orders and braves all the elements with me. And when we arrive safely in port she is ever my haven."

"Yes—but your barque is not a living, breathing woman," put in Mrs. Dane, "with warm, laughing lips, eyes that light at your coming and hair with the scent of jasmine."

"We are beaten," said the Dane, and the captain nodded. "You will never attain happiness without a wife whose hair exhales the odor of jasmine."

"Barkus is more than willing," admitted the captain, "except that the perfume must be carnation. Jasmine reminds me of the Kashira love song, and that in turn takes me back to the days when I carried shiploads of insane criminals from India."

"Make it carnation by all means," put in Dane.

With the word "carnation" a smile as enigmatic as it was unexpected flew swiftly into Mrs. Dane's eyes. During the remainder of the meal she was strangely silent.

"Mark my words," laughed Dane. "When my wife is silent and wears that cunning expression in her eyes there is trouble brewing for some one."

The captain only smiled.

The outcome of the enigmatic smile was a letter written by Mrs. Dane to the friend whom she had been visiting in a village near Belfast. She posted the letter at Sandy Hook and it caught the first mail steamer back to Ireland.

Nellie Cosgrove was out in her great field of carnations when she heard the postman's knock. Carnations were a hobby of hers and her great yellow blossoms were the outcome of varied experiments. She was proud of the rare color she had grown.

"Dearest Nell," she read when the maid brought out a letter from New York, "please, when the steamship Bolivia touches at Moville on her westward trip, send some of your yellow carnations anonymously to the skipper, Capt. Bangor. Do this for me and do it every time the ship sails toward New York. Later, when you come over to see me in October, sail on his ship. He is the kind of man to make you lose a dozen hearts to say nothing of your head—your dear, sun-kissed head. Ever your romantic chum, Edith."

Nell Cosgrove gasped; then she smiled and finally went inside to ascertain for certain when the Bolivia would take on the Irish mail. There was something also enigmatic in her smile. Perhaps she, too, was longing for romance.

It was not surprising, then, to any one concerned save Capt. Bangor when he received a box of golden yellow carnations from anonymous sender. He pondered deeply, thinking perhaps a mistake had been made. The flowers were, however, a great pleasure to him, and adorned his table until the day of reaching the New York shore.

His conversation with the Danes, along with a multitude of other similar chats, had escaped his memory. Each voyage was laden with like dinner talk.

During the following three westward trips of the Bolivia Capt. Bangor gazed three times a day at the cluster of yellow carnations that came to him on each voyage from the tender at Moville. He had come to the knowledge now that some one was paying him secret homage; he admitted the pleasure of the situation.

When, upon the October sailing, his ship stopped in the Moville harbor Capt. Bangor was ignorant of the fact that a most delightful bit of femininity from the Emerald Isle had boarded his ship. Nor did he realize what excellent judgment his dining room steward had until he found Nellie Cosgrove entering the dining room and being piloted to his own table.

His greeting as she seated herself brought a swift blush to her cheeks and a fleeting shy glance from her eyes. Over the golden heads of the usual cluster of carnations the skipper found himself admiring something as compelling as it was subtle, about her personality.

"Surely the yellow carnation is a new discovery?" Nellie Cosgrove asked with admirable guile since she herself had perfected the growth. "Is the color a development of your own?"

"No. These flowers were sent me by a friend."

The girl waited, but the captain was not the kind of man to mention his conquests; and she admired him the more for it. In fact, she found that Edith Dane had not exaggerated the fascination of the man without a romance. It would be difficult, she acknowledged after a few days of closer acquaintance, to prevent herself from falling headforemost in love.

As for the captain, he longed for a calm sea as he had never before longed for anything. A calm sea meant that he would not be compelled to remain on the bridge when he might be dining with Nellie Cosgrove.

Romance had rushed into his life with a sudden and wonderful force. It left the captain's vocabulary more or less weak, so that when he attempted to tell the girl of his love she smiled—there in the moonlight—and mocked him.

"You might be a schoolboy for all you know of lovemaking," she told him.

Then, when she was swept into his arms, a breathless laugh escaped her.

"Words are not necessary—and the scent of carnation is in your hair," the man whispered and drew a deep breath.

"I will take you into my garden—some day," she told him. "You will learn many things—there."

DIZZY, HEADACHY, SICK, "CASCARETS"

Gently cleanse your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

LIVING ON THE ZONE

Employes of the Canal Are Neiher Overworked Nor Underpaid and Live Well Generally

By WILLIS J. ABBOT, Author of "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose.

Copyright, 1913, Syndicate Publishin g Co., New York. All rights reserved.

Probably it was more a desire for experience and adventure than any idea of increased financial returns that led young Jack Maxon to seek a job in engineering on the canal. Graduated from the engineering department of a state university, with two years or so of active experience in the field, Jack was a fair type of young America—clean, wholesome, healthy, technically trained, ambitious for his future but quite solicitous about the pleasures of the present, as becomes a youth of twenty-three.

The job he obtained seemed at the outset quite ideal. In the states he could earn about $175 a month. The day he took his number on the canal zone he began to draw $250 a month. And that $250 was quite as good as $300 at home. To begin with, he had no room rent to pay, but was assigned comfortable, if not elegant quarters, which were shared by another man, carefully screened and protected from all insects with netting, lighted by electricity, with a shower bath handy and all janitor or chambermaid service free. Instead of a boarding house table or a cheap city restaurant he took his meals at a commission hotel at a charge of thirty cents a meal. People say that the fare could not be duplicated in the states for seventy-five cents, but I prefer to quote that statement rather than to make it on my own authority. By taking two meals a day and making the third of fruit, or a sandwich at a Y. M. C. A. club house, he would cut his restaurant charges to $18 a month; the whole three meals would come to $27.80, so, however voracious his appetite, Bachelor Jack's charges for food are light, and for shelter nothing. Clothing troubles him little; his working clothes of khaki, and several suits of white cotton duck will cost him less than one woolen suit such as he must have "up home." All seasons are alike on the zone, and there is no need of various types of hats, overcoats and underwear.

All in all, Bachelor Jack thinks he has come in for a good thing. Moreover, he gets a vacation of 42 days on pay, a sick leave of 30 days on pay—and the sanitarium on the Island of Taboga being a very pleasant resort, few fail to have slight ailments requiring precisely 30 days' rest—and nine holidays, also with pay.

But a vision of better things opens before him—is always spread out before his enraptured vision. His friend who came down a year or two before him and who is earning only a little bit more money sets a standard of living which arouses new ambitions in Jack's mind. His friend is married. Instead of one room shared with one or more tired engineers subject to grouches, he has a four room apartment with bath—really a five room flat, for the broad screened balconies, shaded by vines, form the living room. Instead of eating at the crowded, noisy hotels, he has his quiet dining room, and menus dictated by individual taste instead of by the mechanical methods of a chief of subsistence. Practically everything that can be done for the household by official hands is done free by the commission—free rent, free light, free janitor service, free distilled water, free fuel for cooking—the climate saves that bugbear of married life at home, the annual coal bill. Moreover, the flat or house comes to its tenant freely furnished. The equipment supplied consists of a range, two kitchen chairs, a double bed, a mosquito bar, two pillows, a chiffonier, a double dresser, a double mattress, a dining table, six dining chairs, a sideboard, a bedroom mat, two center tables and three wicker porch chairs.

Housekeepers must buy their own tableware, bed clothes, light furniture and bric-a-brac. But here again the paternal commission comes to the rescue, for these purchases, and all others needed for utility, comfort or beauty, are made at the commissary stores, where goods are sold practically at cost. Moreover, there is no protective tariff collected on imported goods, and it would take another article to relate the rhapsodies of the zone women over the prices at which they can buy Doulton tableware, Irish linen, Swiss and Scandanavian delicatessen, and French products of all sorts. And finally, to round out the privileges of married life on the zone, medical service is free and little Tommy's ills may be prescribed for without fear of the doctor's bill.

So Jack looks from his bachelor quarters over toward Married Row, and it looks good to him. Were he at home prudence would compel the consideration of cost. Here the paternal commission puts a premium on matrimony. Very often, so often, indeed, it is almost the rule, Jack returns from his first vacation home with a wife, or else coming alone is followed by the girl, and all goes merry as a marriage bell.

Many a fellow finds himself in a hole simply from building castles in the air.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — He Was Scared by a Jack-o'-lantern.

A Head With No Body to Rest On.

HALLOWEEN was at hand, and Jack and Evelyn were merrily making their plans.

Daddy had promised to bring nuts from the city, and mother had agreed to make fudge and taffy.

Grandpa and Jack had gone out into the country to buy a big pumpkin for a jack-o'-lantern. No Halloween is complete, you know without a jack-o'-lantern.

"I'll never forget the first jack-o'-lantern I saw," daddy laughed.

"I had gone into a field and got a big cabbage stalk to use in hammering on the neighbors' doors.

"It got dark early that Halloween evening. In fact, it was rather dark and cloudy all day. I didn't tell any one at home that I had that cabbage stalk and meant to go out and knock on doors. I was afraid if I did mother would not allow it.

"The first door I knocked at was lots of fun. The folks came hurrying out, but I was around the corner before they had the door open. Then I tried another door. It also was good fun.

"Down the street lived some jolly boys I knew. I could not understand why I did not see them out knocking at doors. They had been talking about it for a month until they had all the rest of the boys anxious to join them.

"I felt quite sure the boys were knocking at other people's doors. I thought it would be a good joke to go to their house and knock at their door while they were out.

"Very softly I crept to the door, gave it a whack with the cabbage stalk and then turned to run. Right in front of me, so close that its fiery eyes almost stared into mine, was a horrible head that moved about with no body on which to rest.

"I had heard many scary stories about the Halloween spooks and witches, and I thought here was one, sure enough. I think I screamed, and as I did so, splash! came a shower of water over me. I yelled and ran like mad. When I reached home and burst into the house, dripping wet and frightened almost to death, mother put me into a hot bath and then tucked me to bed. I didn't care for any more Halloween after that.

"I learned about it later. The boys who lived in that house had been upstairs at the window watching for boys to knock at their door. They had let the jack-o'-lantern down by tying it to one end of a fish line. Then when I stood still they emptied a pail of water over me. Everybody who knocked at their door that evening was served that way, and there were a good many boys, thanks to the previous interest, they had worked up in such tricks."

THIS MAN WAS EQUAL TO HIS EMERGENCY

Do you know Mike Dorsey?

He is an engineer.

The other day, when Mike was about to take Burlington local 54 onto the siding at Nelson, where the dispatcher had ordered him to meet No. 57, the big limited, he heard, above his own train's rumbling, the roar of a train coming, head on. There was a dense fog, and he could see nothing. Ahead of him was the brakeman, unlocking the switch. The brakeman's head turned up the main line. The motion told Dorsey that their ears agreed. No. 57 was rushing upon them.

Dorsey thought quickly—like a shortstop. He couldn't clear on the siding for No. 57. If he attempted to do so the big train would rake his coaches, killing scores of passengers.

Dorsey reversed his engine.

He took the impact of No. 57, head on.

He was moving backward when the crash came.

No passenger was killed.

Brains!

A great number of people are being run over by automobiles, but it is generally felt that as they hadn't provided themselves with their own machines, it's their own fault.

THE GRIEF OF THE AIGRETTE WEARERS

Much lamentation is reported from the steamship docks, where women tourists returning from Europe are being ingloriously despoiled of aigrettes and other illegal bird plumage under the new laws.

It is the province of women to make themselves attractive by all legitimate adornment. The slender, feathery form of an aigrette seems to many of them to give the final touch of grace and lightness. They forget how fast public sympathy is moving in favor of all forms of bird life. To the majority of persons, an aigrette suggests some sordid scene where ruthless hunters are killing beautiful birds for the dollars there is in it. This makes the wearer repulsive instead of attractive.

Students of bird life say that a great deal of millinery sold as artificial, in order to satisfy the demands of humane purchasers, is not really so, but is murderously robbed from wild birds.

BY ALL MEANS A BUSINESS MANAGER

"Get a competent man for superintendent of the water works by all means."

This is the advice of John H. Roemer, head of the Wisconsin rate commission, regarding the management of our new water system. There is no higher authority.

To do just that is the ultimate purpose of Mayor Ori J. Sorensen's plan looking to the creation of a non-partisan commission in which authority over the plant shall be reposed.

We believe Mayor Sorensen has staked his hopes for an enviable place in the history of this city upon the success of this commission; and that therefore it is his determination to name commissioners exceptionally qualified to achieve the best possible outcome. Nevertheless it is the right of citizens and the duty of aldermen to examine with care the details of his program, and to use influence and authority helpfully. But that duty should be pursued in a co-operative way, not in a spirit of skepticism and carping. We should stop quarreling, and advise and debate in amity.

SWOLLEN FORTUNES AND PRIVILEGE HAND IN HAND

Discussing the federal income tax, Harper's Weekly says:

"Pennsylvania, although its population is much smaller, has more millionaires than New York state; 625 residents of Pennsylvania (500 of them in the Pittsburg manufacturing district alone) have annual incomes exceeding $100,000, against 300 in New York. New York City is the banking center of the country, the home of Wall Street. Also, it is a place to which men gravitate after they become very rich."

The accuracy of this statement depends upon the reliability of the report of taxable income from the two states. If true it is indeed surprising, and as Harper's suggests, is a striking example of the efficacy of the tariff in promoting "swollen fortunes." No "infant industry" has profited more extensively and unjustly by the tariff than has the iron and steel industry, and the state wherein iron and steel reign leads in great incomes. However, Pennsylvania has profited outrageously by the monopoly which has its foundation in joint ownership of coal mines and railroads, and no doubt this has been a contributing source of superfluous wealth.

Until it is found out whether the railroads can raise the rates 5 per cent, their employes have not decided whether to take a raise in pay every six or every three months.

The expectations of the immigration officers that Mrs. Pankhurst would not require anything to eat, while detained at Ellis Island, were disappointed.

What a lot of unnecessary bother a Mexican election makes, when President Huerta can tell in advance just what the result will be.

Many people think they can spite the bosses and machines by not voting, which is precisely what the bosses want.

The woman suffragists seem to be quite cheerful, in spite of the fact that Mrs. Pankhurst is here to speak for them.

A good rule would be that the tango is immoral when the fellow winds his arms more than twice around the girl.

Saved the Suit

Oh, John," sobbed Mrs. John, "I've done something awful, and I'm almost afraid to tell you—but I must. I made a most awful mistake this morning and sent your new dress suit to the rummage sale instead of your old one, and when I found out what I had done and ran over to get it back it had been sold."

"That's all right, Mabel, dear," said John, amiably. "I stepped in at the sale myself and bought it back for 35 cents."—Magazine of Fun.

Pat, who was left-handed, was being sworn in as a witness in the west side court of Denver, Col.

"Hold up your right hand," said the judge.

Up went Pat's left hand.

"Hold up your right hand," commanded the judge, sternly.

"Sure, I am, yer honor," declared Pat. "Me right hand' son me left hand side."—Woman's Home Companion.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

IN The WORLD OF WOMEN

The State Federation of Pennsylvania Women has donated $6200 to the Pennsylvania State College to maintain scholarships for two women of the state.

A dressmaking department for high school girls has been authorized by the Paterson (N. J.) Board of Education. A room equipped with sewing machines, dress forms, electric irons, ironing boards and cutting tables has been set aside for the department.

A woman's chamber of commerce, the third of its kind in the country, is to be established in Des Moines, Iowa, this month.

In the Good Old Days

Swearing was at one time regarded as an indispensable accomplishment. Evelyn Ashley once told Sir Algernon West that on his father becoming Lord Shaftsbury, Lady Caroline Neeld, his sister, said to him, in all seriousness: 'Now, that you have come into the title, you must learn to swear. Your father always did, and gained great respect by it in the county."

Those were the days when the archbishop of Canterbury, calling upon Lord Melbourne to discuss some business, said: "Now, my lord, it will save time if before we begin we assume that everybody and everything is damned."—London Chronicle.

DOCTOR SAID THIS BABY MUST DIE

When sending this picture of her baby, Mrs. Britt of Athol, Mass., said: "The doctor told me that my baby would not live, but I gave him Father John's Medicine and now he is well and strong. The medicine made him eat well and gave him strength to walk." Mrs. Britt lives at 283 Kennebunk street, Athol, Mass. Mothers should remember that Father John's Medicine is a safe medicine to give their children, because it is free from alcohol or dangerous drugs. It is pure and nourishing and will build up the little ones in the natural way.

PERSONALS

Mrs. G. Watson of West Philadelphia, Pa., says that he has given Father John's Medicine to her little boy for bronchial trouble and for colds and it has cured his cough and given him renewed health. Mrs. Watson lives at 5225 Master street.

Thomas L. Fanning of 354 Ninth avenue, New York city, says that Father John's Medicine cured him of bronchitis and built him up. He gained ten pounds while taking it.

Herbert Ingersoll of South Addison, Maine, tells how his baby was cured of a cough by Father John's Medicine which was given to the child on the advice of its grandfather who had also used it with much success.

A Romance of Extraordinary Distinction

The Marshal

By Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews

The next object of the letter was to ask that the marquis should receive and entertain the nephew of Colonel Hampton, Mr. Henry Hampton, who, sailing on Colonel Hampton's ship, the Lovely Lucy, would bring this letter to the marquis. The ship would go first to England and discharge there her cargo of tobacco, and after that it was to be at the service of young Mr. Hampton, to visit such countries of Europe as he might choose, for six months. Mr. Hampton had many letters to people in England, but none elsewhere, and Colonel Hampton would be obliged if the marquis would receive him at his estate at Castelforte and let him see something of Italy from that point of vantage. The marquis might then, if he thought good, return to Virginia in the Lovely Lucy, and either set matters on a firm enough footing to be left, or else—which the colonel considered the better plan—stay with them and become a country gentleman of Virginia. The colonel had heard that there had been political trouble in Italy, but hoped that at this time the country was at peace and the marquis comfortably established in his own castle.

All this the young marquis, an exile of five years from his native land, had read at the chateau of Vicques. He had considered deeply as to what he might do about Carnifax, his estate in Virginia. He could not go himself, for he was in close connection with the work of Italian patriots outside and inside of Italy; with Mazzini in London; with others in other places. And he did not know any one whom he could send.

So the matter stood when the big little Battista had brought Francois' letter to Vicques. And when Alixe had appealed to him to take Francois' liberation on his shoulders, with the thought of the secret passage and the vaguely outlined plan of escape had come to him the recollection of Colonel Hampton's letter and the long sea voyage to Virginia.

So when Mr. Henry Hampton lanced at Calais, a tall and very handsome and very silent young man took quiet possession of him and told him that he was the Marquis Zappi and that Mr. Hampton was to go with him to the chateau of Vicques in the Jura. There was a certain gentle force about this young marquis which made opposition to his expressed wish something like banging one's head against a stone wall. Mr. Henry Hampton had planned going direct to Paris, but he went to Vicques. And on the journey down the Marquis Zappi opened out a plan which richly rewarded him for his pliability. Mr. Hampton had somewhat clearer ideas on Italian politics than his uncle; he knew enough to detest the Austrians and to have a keen sympathy for the long, heroic, losing fight—so far losing—of those devoted men who were counting their lives as nothing for a united Italy. The scheme of helping to rescue a prisoner out of an Austrian fortress was an adventure such as made his eyes dance. Mr. Hampton was twenty-one and full of romance, romance as yet ungratified. So, Pietro told Francois, this long explanation over, the Lovely Lucy was anchored at an unimportant island outside the port for which they were bound, and Francois and the others were to go on board and set sail promptly for some port of France. There the general, Alixe, Pietro and little Battista were to be put ashore, and Francois was to sail across to Virginia with Mr. Hampton and take possession for Pietro of his American estates.

Francois, lying in bed with his eyes glowing like lanterns, listened. But as his friend finished he broke out, with a sharp pain in his voice:

"Pietro, I want to see my mother!"

And Pietro was silent, laying a quiet hand over the unsteady one. Without a word he sat so and let the sick man think. The line of red which came into the pale cheeks told that he was thinking intensely, and at last, with a shivering sigh which went to the other's heart:

"You are right, Pietro," he said. "It is a wonderful plan for a broken man. It is like you to do everything right without a word said. The sea voyage, the healthy life in Virginia that ought to make a man of me again soon, ought it not, Pietro?"

Pietro could not speak as he looked at the wrecked figure, but he nodded cheerfully.

"As for your place, I'll have that in order in a month, and in a year it will be a model for Virginia; and then I'll come home."

Pietro smiled.

"Come home and fight for the Prince—for our Prince Louis. Do you remember that afternoon at the chateau, Pietro, and the strange boy, and how he fascinated us and how—" the weak voice stopped at every few syllables, but slipped on again cheerfully. The familiar charm of the boy Francois was strong as he talked. "And how he was not to be frightened by any danger of an old wall—" and Francois stopped, smiling.

"And how you saved him," Pietro added.

"That was a chance," said Francois quickly. "But, Pietro, do you remember how Alixe turned on you, because I had done it? Droll little Alixe!"

"She always scorned me because I was not wonderful like you, Francois. You were always the hero," Pietro said gently, and pressed the skeleton hand under his own.

Francois' eyes blazed up at him then as they had done so often in boyhood. "Not that, Pietro. You do not understand. It was because Alixe wished always to see you first. I was older and had a certain quickness—she wanted you to have my poor facility as well as all of your own gifts."

Pietro smiled his kind quiet smile. "My Francois, I have no gifts. And if Alixe is more proud of you it is right, for you are a pride to all of us and I am the last to grudge one particle of honor or love to you. Francois"—Pietro's deep voice stopped, and then he went on in his straightforward, simple way—"Francois, it is not possible for me to tell you how glad I am to have you, my brother, back from the dead."

And weak, nerve-wrecked Francois, holding tight to Pietro's hand, turned his face to the wall and cried.

Now that the end of effort was over, the strain of the long years showed their effects in a collapse; the stretched chord had fallen loose, relaxed as if it might never make music again. When the time came to leave the sail-boat of Luigi and go abroad the Lovely Lucy, the effort was too much for the man who, two nights before, had shown the nerve and agility of an acrobat. When he must leave the boat and make the change, he fainted, and, wrapped in a blanket, ghastly white, unconscious, the little Battista carried his light weight up the ladder of the American ship.

Silence Too Costly

A guest was expected for dinner and Bobby had received 5 cents as the price of his silence during the meal. He was as quiet as a mouse until, discovering that his favorite desert was being served, he could no longer curb his enthusiasm. He drew the coin from his pocket and, rolling it across the table, exclaimed:

"Here's your nickel, mamma. I'd rather talk."

This Leaves the Skin Smooth and Hairless

(Boudoir Secrets)

The electric needle for removing hairy or fuzzy growths is fast falling into disfavor among beauty specialists, because quicker and better results are obtained with the aid of a paste made by stirring together a little powdered delatone and water. This is applied on the hairs not wanted and in 2 minutes rubbed off, and with it comes every trace of hair. The skin should then be washed to remove the remaining paste and it will be left smooth and spotless. Buy delatone in original packages only.—Advertisement.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

That Mysterious Rag

(When the suggestion was made years ago to dismantle "Old Ironsides," the poet Oliver Wendell Holmes penned some lines that saved the old frigate from an ignominious fate. The announcement in the American Printer that the famous printers' towel is to be dethroned, in order to give place to sanitary paper towels, inspires the present parody, though it is unlikely to become as famous as the poem "Old Ironsides."—S. C.)

Aye, tear the spattered emblem down and let it hang no more,
Displaying inky finger prints behind the office door.
For years it's borne the daily wipe
upon its honest face,
As printers madly rolled it round to find a cleaner place.
The pristine freshness once it knew
long since has past away,
And now it shows designs of black upon a field of gray.
The good old days have past away,
the towel hangs alone,
Reflecting sadly on the time when hygiene was unknown.
When men lived on, in spite of germ,
nor crost the microbe's path,
Nor feared a wild bacillus might destroy them in its wrath.
No more shall foremen, devils,
comps, enjoy your moist embrace,
No more shall you leave streaks of grime upon the pressman's face.
No more, alas! shall parodists proclaim your charms in verse
In halting lines—some rather bad and others rather worse.
Good-bye; old friend, good-bye to you, farewell to all your kind,
For antiseptic paper wipes we're leaving you behind.
If Science says that we must part
perhaps 'tis better so;
We hold no grudge against you, but we're glad to see you go.

She Would Displease Him

Home study for Tommy had just begun and he found it hard to apply himself to regular hours. At bedtime one evening his father said: "Tommy, I am not at all pleased with the report your mother gives me of your conduct today."

"No, father, I knowed you wouldn't be, and I told her so. But she went right ahead an' made th' report. Just like a woman, ain't it?"

No Blooming Pigeon

For the first time in her life an old lady was about to make a railway journey, and when she arrived at the station the bustle and noise so upset her that she didn't know what to do.

"Young man," she said to a porter. "I wish you'd tell me what to do; I feel so flurried. Can you tell me where I can get a ticket?"

"Of course, mum," he replied. "You get it at the booking office, just over there, through that pigeon hole."

The old lady looked at the pigeon hole in astonishment, and then scanned her own elephantine proportions.

"Go away, you old silly," she burst out, in a rage. "Go away, with you! How can I get through there? I ain't a blessed pigeon."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Home Beauty Parlor, by Betty Dean

Etta Lee: The young man was rude, but it is a fact that men object to seeing their women friends with evidence of having too recently "primped." Ordinary face powder does show plainly, and the average man objects to it. My suggestion to you would be to use spurmax. It is a liquid lotion with all the advantages of face powder and none of the artificial objections. It will not show or rub off and never looks "streaked." Get from your druggist 4 ounces of spurmax and dissolve it in ½ pint hot water. Add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This will make a liberal supply of lotion which will protect your skin as well as beautify your complexion.

Georgene: I always advise against the use of soap for shampooing the hair. I'm glad you know its dangers. Canthrox is my stand-by for a shampoo and I'm sure it will be yours after this trial. It is a very simple preparation, and 50 cents' worth is enough for over a dozen washings. Use only a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Makes a delightful, fragrant lather. There is nothing like it for making each strand light, fluffy and brilliant. In time you will find such an improvement that you will not need to use any artificial hair or switch. Canthrox makes the hair dry easily.

Joyce: The use of rouge to give you color is something I am too old-fashioned to approve. Try first this simple, inexpensive tonic. I think it will build up your system and bring natural color to your face. Dissolve an ounce of kardene in half a pint of alcohol, add one-half cup of sugar and enough hot water to make a full quart; take a tablespoonful before each meal. It will purify the blood, tone the nerves, besides relieving your pallor and improving the complexion.

Mrs. M. L.: Those dark rings under your eyes do not necessarily indicate serious eye trouble. You probably strained your eyes and they are suffering from over work. Here is a fine tonic. Get an ounce of crystos, dissolve it in a pint of water and drop a few drops in each eye twice daily. It will not smart, is very soothing and is certain to reduce the inflammation and swelling. It adds sparkle and beauty besides. For a good system tonic see anwer to Joyce.

Grace: Your threat to wear a wig sounds funny nowadays, when with a little care nobody needs to have thin or falling tresses. There is no better hair tonic known to science than you can make at home by dissolving an ounce of quinzoin in half a pint of alcohol and then adding half a pint of cold water. The use of this tonic is agreeable and pleasant. It will not make hair become sticky or greasy and is the best known help to prevent premature grayness or loss of hair. For a good shampoo see answer to Georgene.

Primrose: The right weight for a woman of five feet four is 112 pounds. You cannot with ease or grace carry more—especially nowadays when the styles demand slimness. But don't risk excessive exercising or strict dieting—they will bring down your strength. Try parnotis. Get 4 ounces of this old, reliable remedy at your drug store. Dissolve it in 1½ pints water and take a tablespoonful before meals. I have advised this often with excellent results.

Blue Bell: It is never any trouble to me to answer questions about the skin and complexion. It is a hobby with me that a woman need not be lined prematurely or lose her beauty. Here is one of the finest things I know to remove wrinkles and make the skin velvety, soft and smooth. Stir one ounce almozoin in half a pint of co'd water; add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Let it stand a few hours and apply freely. It is matchless for massage and reducing the pores. Avoid greasy cold creams.

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 cents you can make your hair lustrous, fluffy, and abundant.

Immediate? — Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

CARP TO NEW YORK

That teh salt water products of the New York and New Jersey coasts are not adequate for the consumers of New York city is the idea given with the shipment yesterday of a car load of carp, caught in Beaver Dam lake, Wisconsin, and shipped east over the Milwaukee railroad bound for Gotham. The total weight of the shipment was over 23,000 pounds.

LIVES THREE HOURS WITH HEART BARED

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 23.—With his left lung torn away and the beating of his heart exposed to the eyes of the surgeons through a gaping wound through his body, George Schultz, 17 years old, 1478 Ninth street, was brought to the Emergency hospital at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

He died at 11:30.

"I was disgusted with life. I don't want to live any more," moaned the young man as he was being carried into the hospital. He had tried suicide by leaning over the muzzle of a shotgun in the attic of his home and pressing the trigger with his bare toe.

GIRL BLAMES HER CRIMES ON MAN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 23.—"He took me to Chicago on a promise of marriage which he never fulfilled, then he forced me to sign and pass bogus checks. I have tried to get away from him often, but he wouldn't let me go."

Arrested on Tuesday in the company of Ulrich Wettstein, charged with passing a score of worthless checks on Milwaukee merchants, Anna Wischer unfolded a pitiful tale last night in the county jail. Just nineteen years old and strikingly pretty, she told of her illicit relationship with Wettstein and the career of crime that he had led her into.

Go Pimples—Come Beauty

This Is What Happens When Stuart's Calcium Wafers Are Used to Cleanse the Blood of All Impurities and the Skin of Eruptions.

If you want a beautiful complexion stop using cosmetics, salves, lotions, etc. They simply plaster the pores and prevent them from doing their natural and normal duties. If you stopped up all the pores you would actually die in a few days.

"Not a Pimple or Other Skin Eruption Left—I Used Stuart's Calcium Wafers."

There is no sense in being longer humiliated by having to appear in public with a pimple-covered blotched face—a face that makes strangers stare and your friends ashamed. Stuart's Calcium Wafers will drive all blemishes away and make your face a welcome instead of an unwelcome sight. You'll no longer be a slave to pimples, acne, blackheads, liver spots, boils, eczema, tetter or any skin eruption.

Nowadays, when you see a real beauty, the chances are Stuart's Calcium Wafers wrought that wonderful change. It takes only a short time, even with very bad complexions—the kind that are disfigured with rash, eczema, boils, blotches and liver spots.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers cause the skin pores to breathe out impurities. The lungs burn up a great amount, but Nature imposes upon the skin the larger burden. Every tick of the clock means work, work, work for these wonderful Wafers. And every instant new skin is forming, impurities become less and less, the pores are reinvigorated, and soon such a thing as a pimple, blackhead or any other eruption is impossible. You marvel at the change.

The soft, rosy tint love-taps the cheeks; the neck, shoulders and arms show the health of youthful skin—in fact, you just can't help having a beautiful complexion if you use Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

They are put up in convenient form to carry with you, are very palatable, and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box.

Why We Do Not Burn Witches.

When the old Puritan got so excited over witches that he couldn't sleep and was willing to burn the old women to get rid of them, he showed that he did not have the steady nerve of the modern man, who sees things ten times more mysterious happening all the time and never gets at all excited. The reason why they did not have so many in the asylums at that time was because there were no asylums to which they could be sent.—Omaha World Herald.

NEED NEW DERRICK TO PICK WRECKS

Succession of Small Mishaps Has Made It Hard to Keep Tracks Clear with Old Apparatus

When two box cars of a freight train were derailed at Camp Douglas about 6 o'clock this morning, north side yard officials of the Milwaukee railroad were again in a quandary as to the best methods to clear the track. The old time small derrick was put into use and the track cleared within an hour. But slight delays were encountered in running trains.

Due to a succession of small wrecks and mishaps during the past few months, Yardmaster Joseph Lutiger has found it impossible at all times to keep traffic open with the appliances available in the yards at present.

The company has promised a new steam derrick for the La Crosse division. The old one has been in use for several years. Added business bringing more trains and a larger number of small mishaps, the small machine has been outgrown.

The north side offices of the road are reporting every day added business going over their tracks, especially in grains and farm products from the west and Pacific coast, and in merchandise going west from Chicago and the east. For a long time officials of the Milwaukee have been endeavoring to procure a switch engine for River Junction, with the result that a few days ago a communication from the main offices stated that by the first of the year an engine would be put at the disposal of the north side, to be used at Bridge Switch.

According to Ludiger there is tracking space for more than four hundred cars at this place, and he declares that with a switch engine, the problem of handling cars that must be laid up here would be solved. By a system of communication to the north side offices, whole trains could be made up at the junction.

The amount of gate receipts taken in since the closing of the Northern league season were divided between the teams. Although the amount was small, it was slightly more than the teams expected. The gate receipts from the first of the season until the opening of the professional season here were paid the teams at a meeting held at that time. No plans were made for the season next year, although the members present seemed to be enthusiastic over continuing.

Singularly Productive Tree.

Perhaps the most productive of all trees is the carnamba tree, similar to the palm which flourishes along the Rio Grande. When it is young it produces vinegar, while the roots have a taste similar to sarsaparilla. The branches give forth nuts which when roasted can be used as coffee. The tree's wood is serviceable to make musical instruments. Lastly there is a wax extracted from it that is used to make candles.

IGNORES A SIGN KILLED IN WELL

HALEY, N. D., Oct. 23.—Though a lantern went out when lowered into a big bored well on the King farm near here, indicating that the air was foul and would not sustain human life, Emil Wallin, a workman, made light of protests of Mr. King, and descended into the excavation. He was quickly overcome and though hauled to the surface almost immediately, his life could not be saved.

EAST GRAND FORKS, N. His condition is critical.

ENTIRE FACULTY OF SCHOOL QUITS

MENOMINEE, Mnch., Oct. 23.—The resignation of John E. Davis, superintendent of the Menominee schools, handed in Monday, was today followed by the resignation of the entire high school faculty of twelve teachers, who stand by Davis in his position concerning the indefinite suspension of Thurman Doyle, son of Attorney M. J. Doyle, president of the Menominee school board.

The boy was suspended for smoking cigarettes at the high school in violation of rules of the board of education. The board ruled that Doyle be reinstated as a pupil, following an apology. Superintendent Davis and the faculty retaliated by resigning. The resignations will be acted upon at the next meeting of the board.

THINKS LAUNCH HAS BEEN SUNK

North Side Man Loses Boat and Believes It Has Been Scuttled

A launch valued at several hundred dollars, the property of Anton Lanzl, 205 Mill street, was reported to the police on the north side yesterday as missing from its moorings near the Milwaukee railroad bridge crossing Black river. The launch was stolen night before last, according to Lanzl.

Working on the theory that the launch was taken out to deep water and sunk, Lanzyl is not endeavoring to find the thieves other than to report it to the police.

The fact that a few weeks ago the carburetor was missing from his launch leads him to the belief that the boat was not stolen. Lanzl's boat is not housed, but let to float in the river, with a watertight cover on the top. Several times he has found the top torn partly off and the inside disturbed.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves, but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

R. G. THWAITES DIES AT MADISON

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 23.—Dr. Reuben Gold Thwaites, 60 years old, superintendent of the Wisconsin State Historical society during the last twenty-five years, and the most widely known historical writer in the west, died at the Madison General hospital Wednesday afternoon from kidney disease.

He was at the hospital only four days and his death was unexpected. His widow and only child, Frederick W. Thwaites, 24 years old, were at his bedside when he died.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Costs Little, but there is Nothing Better at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchial asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Strictly Up to Date.

Seven-year-old Peggy was drawing the picture of a house and finally announced it completed. "But where are the chimneys?" she was asked. Peggy's face fell for a moment as she noticed this important omission, but she quickly recovered her presence of mind. "Oh, this kind of a house doesn't need chimneys," she answered calmly. "It is heated by radiators."

Learn to Forbear.

To forbear is to forget every night the little vexations of the past day; to say every morning: "Today I shall be braver and calmer than yesterday." Forbearance even sometimes leads us to detect in ourselves a little want of good nature, condescension and charity.—Selected.

Only Reasonable.

A boy was observed dragging a fine looking but evidently weary dog along the street on a hot day. A kindly woman stopped the lad and offered to buy the dog for 50 cents. "Fifty cents, nothin!" came the indignant answer. "I want at least a dollar more for him. Why, his old master gave me $1 to take him away."

A New Principle in Complexion Treatment

(From Society World)

Most creams are injurious when used habitually. They clog the pores and eventually form a permanent, soggy, stifling film which interferes with eliminative action and makes the skin sickly and pasty. There is an application—mercolized wax—which acts upon an entirely different principle. While perfectly harmless, it has the peculiar property of removing by absorption the dead and half-dead particles of scarf skin, as well as unhealthy matter in the pores. Thus it takes away from instead of adding to the complexion, differing in this respect from cosmetics. The result is a perfectly natural and healthy young complexion. Mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store (one ounce is sufficient), is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

The correct principle in the treatment of wrinkles is to tighten the skin, which naturally irons out the lines. A face bath, remarkably effective in this direction, may be made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel—Advertisement.

Druggist Beyschlag

503 Main St., said, "It is generally assumed that the Druggist charges any price for a Prescription he sees fit. That is not so. The Druggist carefully figures the cost of the ingredients, and makes the price for the Prescription accordingly. I have always followed this rule, and have therefore prepared over 200,000 Doctors' Prescriptions for my patrons here, and they are still coming. Of course I carry a very complete stock for all Doctors' Prescriptions, having devoted my main time and energy to filling these, and having been greatly favored by my friends and patrons. WILSON ISSUES FIRST THANKSGIVING DECREE AS PRESIDENT TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—President Wilson today issued his first Thanksgiving proclamation as president of the United States, as follows:

"The season is at hand in which it has been our long respected custom as a people to turn in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for his manifold mercies and blessings to us as a nation. The year that has just passed has been marked in a peculiar degree by manifestations of His gracious and beneficient Providence. We have not only had peace throughout our own borders and with the nations of the world, but that peace has brightened by constantly multiplying evidence of genuine friendship of mutual sympathy and understanding, and of the happy operation of many elevating influences both of ideal and of practice. The nation has been not only prosperous, but has proved its capacity to take calm counsel amid the rapid movement of affairs and deal with its own life in a spirit of candor, righteousness and comity. We have seen the practical completion of a great work at the isthmus of Panama, which not only exemplifies the nation's abundant resources to accomplish what it will and the distinguished skill and capacity of its public servants, but also promises the beginning of a new age, of new contrasts, new neighborhoods, new sympathies, new bonds, and new achievements of co-operation and peace.

"'Righteoueness exalteth the nation' and 'Peace on earth, good will toward men' furnish the only foundation upon which can be built the lasting achievements of the human spirit. The year has brought us the satisfaction of work well done and fresh visions of our duty which will make the work of the future better still.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the 27th of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease from their wonted occupations and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be offixed.

"Done at the City of Washington, this 23rd day of October, in the year of Our Lord, 1913, and of the Independence of the United States of America the 138th. (Signed)

"By the president— WOODROW WILSON.

"W. J. BRYAN, Secretary of State."

DIRECTS SUSPICION AGAINST WITNESS

Friend Tells of Seeing Object She Is Sure Was Yushinsky Body In Cheberyah Flat

IDENTIFIES CLEW NEAR BODY

Says Part of Pillow Case Found in Cave Belonged to Her Friend

KIEFF, Oct. 23.—Catharine Diakonoff, friend of Vera Cheberyak, resumed the witness stand in the ritual murder trial today and continued her story of the suspicious things he saw at the Cheberyak home after Andrew Yushinsky's murder was discovered. She corroborated almost every detail of the testimony given by Krasnovsky, deposed police head, who was on the stand for two days. The Diakonoff woman told of twice encountering an object in the Cheberyak flat that she was afterward convinced was the body of Yushinsky. Vera said it contained rags.

Tells of Mysterious Trio

The woman told of meeting three mysterious youths at Vera's frequently. They were members of the Cheberyak "gang" she said. On the day that Yushinsky's murder was discovered she said the three men were at the house, covered with mud and the flat was in disorder.

The witness identified as Vera's a part of a pillow case found near the cave where the body was found. She verified Krasnovsky's statement that the mud on Andrew's body was not like that of the brickyard and that footprints found about the cave did not correspond with those of Beilis.

She also gave important testimony regarding Vera's treatment of her children, Eugene and Valentine, who died mysteriously after the Yushinsky investigation began.

Trial Ordered By Czar

Rumors reaching here from St. Petersburg allege that the ritual murder trial was ordered by the czar, over the protest of the minister of justice and that this official is now urging that it be dropped. It is said that the czar named the foreman of the jury, who is a government official and the only educated man among the twelve. The Jews declare that he will dictate the verdict.

HEADLINERS ON MAJESTIC BILL

The five act vaudeville bill opening at the Majestic for the remainder of the week tonight is said to be an extraordinary one, with each number a topliner.

Fields and Landelia present "The Janitor and the Maid," a farce playlet with a new idea.

A vaudeville stunt that is as old as vaudeville but ever pleasing is the "Act on Wheels" by Joe Kennedy. Kennedy is a bicyclist of fame.

"The eight Vassar girls" are presenting this week a clever musical number. La Fevre and St. John add another sketch to the bill, entitled "Flirtation a la Carte." The skit is a laugh from start to finish.

The Brooklyn comedy four entertain with mirth and melody. They are as good a comedy quartette as ever billed at the Majestic.

DON'T KNOW THEY HAVE APPENDICITIS

Many La Crosse people who have chronic appendicitis, which is not very painful, have doctored for years for gas on the stomach, sour stomach or constipation. Hoeschler Bros. state if these people will try A SINGLE DOSE of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis, they will be surprised at the INSTANT benefit.

M'ADOO CERTAIN PRESENT BILL IS TO BE AMENDED

all speakers who sought in any way to commend the Owen-Glass bill will not, in my opinion, favorably affect congress, at least not to the extent desired.

"The bill is not being railroaded through congress and ample hearings are being granted. Bankers and their representatives from all parts of the country have been invited to appear before the committee.

"I have no doubt but that suggestions offered at the Boston meeting will be given proper hearing and all pertinent amendments given due consideration.

"Everyone concedes the necessary of banking and currency legislation. The Aldrich act of 1908, drawn and passed as a result of the panic of 1907, expires by its own terms next year. Either that must be extended or a new one drawn to take its place and this seems to be the most opportune time for action."

NEW ORCHESTRA HAS REHEARSAL

The Philharmonic orchestra met Sunday afternoon for its second rehearsal with sixteen members playing. Professor Rawstron had some new music ready and the orchestra played six or seven interesting numbers.

The club has been formed to give the musicians in La Crosse a chance of playing symphonies and concerted music as they were written.

The orchestra promises to be a permanent organization. It is taking in new members and hopes to increase its numbers until the parts are so balanced that the larger compositions can be studied.

JOKE BRINGS PARDON

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 23.—As the result of a jesting remark made by Governor Eberhart, Herbert Gallaghugh, convicted murderer, will be released from Stillwater prison today. The governor jokingly told a meeting of railroad men that he would help a railroad man out of trouble any time. A friend of Gallaghugh's in his old home at Chenoa, Ill., heard of the remark and wrote to the Minnesota pardon board quoting Eberhart's words. The governor took up Gallaghugh's interests and the pardon was granted yesterday.

is herculean and progress is exceedingly slow. This morning half a dozen rescuers were taken out of the mine shaft unconscious, having been overcome by gases.

Pitiful scenes were enacted at the mine's mouth today. Hundreds of women and children of the entombed men rushed to the shaft as soon as the explosion occurred and have refused to abandon their vigil. Most of the women are hysterical and are controlled with difficulty by miners and guards.

Fearing that the death toll will be the greatest in recent western coal mine history, the coroner early today rushed requests to Trinidad and Denver for coffins.

Result of Dust

What caused the explosion has not been ascertained, but it is believed to have been the result of an accumulation of dust. The mine, owned by the Phelps-Dodge interests was recently declared one of the safest in the west. In the eighteen years it has been operated it has never before had an explosion.

The explosion occurred on the second level of what is known as the high line mine, the largest of the five operated by the company here. The earth in the vicinity of the entrance was shaken as by an earthquake and a moment later smoke was seen to issue from the shaft.

Immediately the officials of the company began an investigation and rescuers discovered that the month of the main slope was caved in for a distance of nearly 100 feet. Workmen immediately attacked the debris but their progress was slow because of the terrific obstacles presented.

Find Five Alive

Two hours after the explosion the bodies of two miners were found in the shaft and shortly afterwards five living men were taken out. At 10 p. m. two more men were removed alive.

From midnight until morning the rescuers proceeded cautiously and up to daylight had made no further rescues.

It is now believed the trapped men are entombed in chambers from half a mile to one mile from the shaft mouth. The air supply of the mine is now the chief concern of the officials. They hope the air will improve as the rescuers penetrate the mine deeper, enabling them to reach the entombed men today.

The miners' families are cheered by the knowledge that Superintendent Frank McDermott of the mine is one of those entombed, and they rely on him to lead his men out. Alexander McDonald, a veteran Colorado miner but recently employed at Dawson, is also entombed.

Relief parties from Trinidad, Col., fifty miles north, and other nearby coal camps, began arriving todaq. C. J. Roberts of Denver, in charge of the federal mine rescue car left Denver with the car last night.

Send Rescue Cars

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Federal mine rescue car No. 2 left Rock Springs, Wyo., at 3 a. m. today for the Dawson, N. M., disaster, and another car from Arkansas may proceed there today, according to the bureau of mines. The bureau's Denver agent reported unofficially that 228 miners were entombed. The first federal rescue car will reach the mine late tonight or early tomorrow.

NEAR STRANGLING FROM INDIGESTION

Entering the room of her 10 year old daughter this morning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. Davis Spafford, 420 South Fourteenth street, found the little girl near death with strangulation, her face almost black and unconscious. The little girl is the daughter of Davis Spafford, coachman for L. C. Colman.

The frantic mother rushed out of the house to neighbors who called Dr. Powell.

In the meantime with the help of neighbors, Mrs. Spafford endeavored to restore breathing. The use of simple methods is all that saved the girl's life, says Dr. Powell. When the physicians arrived at the house, he administered restoratives and within a short time the little girl breathed.

When her daughter complained of indigestion early this morning, Mrs. Spafford allowed her to remain away from school. She had gone into her room to lie down. It was only by chance that the mother entered the room. The strangulation has been attributed to the attack of acute indigestion.

STENOS FIGHT FOR PILE

CANTON, O., Oct. 23.—Ten pretty Stark county court house stenographers today banded together to fight for $10,000 left them by a will of Samuel Rudy, aged and eccentric bachelor, who died recently. Rudy left the typists each $1,000, as a reward for their politeness when he called at the courthouse on business. But the villagers of Uniontown, where Rudy lived, have filed suit to break this will for the purpose of bringing into effect another will dividing the $80,000 Rudy estate among residents of Uniontown.

ECCENTRICITIES IN TYPEWRITER MAY LEAD TO UNDOING OF INVENTOR OF UNIQUE BLACKMAILING SCHEME

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Postoffice Inspector Stuart today expressed the belief that two persons—a man and a woman—suspected of attempted blackmail upon several prominent Chicago women by threatening to infect them with deadly bacteria, will be arrested within the next forty-eight hours.

Federal investigators obtained valuable clues by noting the eccentricities in the typewriter on which all the blackmailing letters were written.

Examination of the bacteria contained in the letters was made by Dr. Charles E. M. Fischer, who pronounced them harmless.

SULZER'S LIFE THREATENED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The life of William Sulzer, deposed governor of New York, was frequently threatened during the stormy times before his impeachment, according to a statement made by Mrs. Sulzer this afternoon, in an interview.

"Scores of letters have come to the executive mansion from the Tammany camp, no doubt instigated by 'the chief,' threatening Mr. Sulzer's life," Mrs. Sulzer said.

HIT BY A MOTORCYCLE

MRS. G. F. HAUSER KNOCKED DOWN BY MAN ON MACHINE WHO DOES NOT STOP

Struck in the back and knocked down by a motorcycle driven by an unknown person at Seventh and Division streets at 7:45 o'clock last night, Mrs. George F. Hauser, 613 South Eighth street, is today confined in bed.

Mrs. Hauser was returning to her home alone from down town, where she had been shopping. There is no street light at the Division street crossing. Mrs. Hauser declares that the machine must have been traveling at top speed, as she did not notice it when she stepped from the sidewalk to cross the street.

When in the center of the street Mrs. Hauser says she saw the machine bearing down upon her. Fearing to stay in its path she endeavored to get to the opposite sidewalk.

The motorcycle slightly slowed down, but was traveling at an excessive rate when it struck her. The handle bar or a part of the machine above the wheel hit her in the small of the back, throwing her to the street.

For a second only the rider threatened to lose his balance, but suddenly righted himself and continued up Seventh street, driving even faster than before striking the woman.

As there was no one passing at the time, Mrs. Hauser, unassisted walked to her home.

Efforts on the part of the police to find the motorcycle rider have been to no avail. Aside from the shock to her system and a few minor scars, physicians say Mrs. Hauser is not injured.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The stock market opened active and lower.

11 a. m.—Towards the end of the first hour the market became comparatively dull with prices a small fraction up from the low. There was no indication of a rallying tendency and even those who were not bearish said it would be too much to expect a rally when on Sunday the Mexican elections will be held and interesting things may happen in connection with them.

Noon—A slight tendency toward improvement was shown in the market in the second hour.

2 p. m.—Trading was dull in the early afternoon. Price changes were unimportant.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Wheat opened steady with the cable, Liverpool anticipating lighter receipts at Winnipeg in the ext week, but in the early trading offerings were moderately heavy and the buyers stayed away, evidently waiting for a break. The result was that futures declined ⅜ to ½c in the forenoon.

Corn started firm, shading higher, but bear pressure, based partly on the weakness in wheat, caused a forenoon decline of ½ to ⅝c.

Oats had a steady tone at the start, but fell off ⅜c for each month under moderate selling pressure, induced by the weakness in wheat and corn.

Provisions started higher with a firm hog market but shaded a trifle easier toward noon.

A sharp advance carried all grain futures to top figures for the day, shortly before the close this afternoon, the gains ranging from ½ to ¾c.

The rally started in the wheat pit, and was based principally on the withdrawal of earlier offerings on account of the light receipts northwest. Corn and oats traders followed the leadership of those in the wheat pit.

Provisions firmed in the afternoon and showed a gain for the day.

SPORTS

WOLGAST WILL BOX WHITE WHEN WELL

Posts Extra $500 Forfeit that He Will Fight As Soon as He Is Well

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 23.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, is determined that the injury which he sustained while boxing in the Eagles' gymnasium Sunday, shall not prevent him from endeavoring to climb back to the top of his class again.

Physicians have advised the Michigan bearcat to take a long rest and not to take any chances with his side. Wolgast had to call off several engagements because of his injury.

The former champion was highly incensed because of reports from Chicago which accused him of attempting to side-step White.

"Why should I crawl from him," asked Wolgast. "I have met many tougher than he and when I finish my bout with him he will know that he has been in a real fight."

May Meet Winner

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, may be matched for a ten round bout here with the winner of the Ritchie-Cross fight. Wolgast telegraphed Billy Gibson that he would meet either Ritchie or Cross at any weight. Ad said he had not suffered a broken rib, as reported, and would be ready to fight within three weeks.

Both Ritchie and Cross said they are willing to meet Wolgast.

WELCH VS. MURPHY

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Managers for Freddie Welch, English lightweight, and Eddie Murphy of Boston were expected to post forfeits here today for a ten round bout before the Kenosha, Wis., Athletic club, Nov. 10, on a tentative agreement having been reached. The fighters having agreed to make 135 at three o'clock.

BITES OFF TONGUE

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 23.—While walking on Chestnut street Tuesday night Albert Griep, 38 years old, 1816 Chestnut street, stumbled and fell. He had his tongue between his teeth and bit off a portion of it. The agony and sensation made him sick and he was taken to the Emergency hospital.

ORGANIZE SOCIETIES

ALL OF LAST YEAR'S LITERARY AND DEBATING ORGANIZATIONS EXIST AGAIN AT NORMAL

With two months of school gone the students of the local normal have become accustomed to school work and have begun to organize various literary and debating societies.

All of last year's societies have been reorganized. The young men's societies which are now holding their regular meetings are the Websterian and the Eclectic. These societies have arranged triangular debates with Milwaukee and Platteville normals, the Websterian debaters having been returned victors in each of their contests in the last two years, while the Eclectic has lost one.

The girl's debating societies are the Forum and the Sapphonion. A series of inter-society debates has been arranged between the boys' and girls' societies.

The students of the country school course have re-organized the Amherst club which is conducted on the same principles as the Forum or Websterian society.

The Buskin club, a dramatic society, has been reorganized with Mr. Coate at its head. This society puts on two or three modern plays each year. Last year's productions were "The Cricket on the Hearth" and "She Stoops to Conquer."

Practically each special course has its society such as the Physical Training club and the Science club with Dr. Bernhard at its head.

With these various societies in school every student has a chance to exercise his special talent. The large enrollment in each of these societies shows the interest the students have in such lines of work.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23.—A fine assortment of driving was in store for the Yale varsity today as a result of the poor showing made yesterday against the Freshmen and Scrubs. Captain Ketcham pronounced the varsity as "simply rotten." The Scrubs scored three times. The Freshmen held the varsity to a single touchdown.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 23.—Secret practice will probably be ordered by the Princeton coaches for the remainder of the season after today. Some hard licks are being put in preparation for Dartmouth. Lamberton was tried out yesterday at punting and showed up well.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 23.—Captain Bob Storer of Harvard will appear at end of the Crimson in the game against Pennsylvania Saturday and will probably continue at that position throughout the season. Gilman will be played at left tackle. The switch was worked out in an effort of the coaches to get more weight in the line and they are confident Storer will develop into one of the best ends in the game.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 23.—Another day of scrimmage in the mud was scheduled today for the Washington crew. Coach Edmunds believes the Pikeway warriors will have an easy time Saturday with Westminster.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 23.—Anxiety filled the hearts of the M. U. students today for it was noised about that the Tiger defense was weak—that the strong freshman team had been tearing holes in the line. Coaches say the varsity will have to show better against Ames if Missouri expects to win Saturday.

DUCK GALLOWS CHARMS

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 23.—The White Sox-Giants tourists will not play in Fort Smith, it was announced today, because Owner Comiskey of the Sox got wind of the fact that local fans were preparing to present to Comiskey and McGraw watch charms made out of nails taken from the old federal gallows here, on which more than 100 men were executed. Comiskey himself offered this explanation in a letter to local promoters, declining the souvenir with thanks.

PEDS SEE CINCH AT STEVENS POINT

Remember Superior's 63 to 0 Victory Over Pointers and Are Confident

The local Normal football team will meet the Stevens Point team in a game next Saturday at Stevens Point.

The "Pointers" were defeated last Saturday by Superior Normal to the tune of 63 to 0, and the local players think they have as good a team as Superior. Coach Carter is not taking any chances of letting his men get over-confident and is drilling them every afternoon and darkness usually ends the practice. If his team improves in the future as it has in the past two weeks, the Milwaukee aggregation will have a job on their hands when they clash for the state championship. Coach Carter was well pleased with the outcome of last Saturday's game. "Of course," he said, "We ought to have won but I'm satisfied with the showing the fellows made. It's the first time they have played real football. If they keep that up, we're going to give some one a hard fight for state honors."

M'LEAN INSISTS HE GOT SHARE

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—While much sympathy was being expressed for Larry McLean, following the report that he received only $500 as his share of the Giants' world's series money, McLean has come forth with a statement declaring that he received his full share, $2,162. Larry is quoted from Boston as saying that the report that he was cut off with $500 probably resulted from a movement that was started among the Giant players to buy him a diamond pin because of his good work in the pennant race during the series after Chief Meyers was injured. Several players contributed but the plan finally fell through. There was no hitch in the business of handing over his full slice of the world's series melon, however, according to McLean.

TIGER CREW READY

PRINCETON, N. J.—Oct. 23.—The Princeton crew which will meet Yale in the mile and five-eighths race here Saturday put the finishing touches on its work today. Dr. Spaeth coach, said he was well satisfied with the time trial of yesterday. The Yale eight was due to arrive here today. The Blue oarsmen will have two days practice on Carnegie lake before the race.

The crew will be made up as follows: Crocker, stroke; Titus, 7; Fitzpatrick, 6; Woodruff, 5; Ropp, 4; Captain Denegre, 3; Rodgers, 2; Low, bow; Moore, coxswain.

BAKER NOT THROUGH

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 23.—Team mates and close friends of J. Franklin Baker, star third baseman of the world's champions, today branded as foolish a report that the home run artist would retire from baseball soon. They said the "wonder" had often talked of retiring, but not within the next few years.

SULLIVAN SHOWS WELL

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Oct. 23.—Jack (Twin) Sullivan was credited today with having made a splendid showing in his mill here last night with Gus Christie of Milwaukee, though Christie won the decision. Sullivan started poorly but improved in the late rounds.
